DRAMA

(Julius Caesar by William Shakespeare)

Question 2

Read the extract from 'Julius Caesar' Act 3, Scene 2, given below and answer the questions that follow:

Antony: *Friends, Romans, countrymen, lend me your ears;
I come to bury Caesar, not to praise him.
The evil that men do lives after them,
The good is oft interred with their bones;
So let it be with Caesar. The noble Brutus
Hath told you Caesar was ambitious;
If it were so, it was a grievous fault,
And grievously hath Caesar answer'd it.
Here, under leave of Brutus and the rest—
For Brutus is an honourable man;
So are they all, all honourable men—
Come I to speak in Caesar's funeral.*

- (i) What does Antony say he is there for? [3]
What does he say he is not there for?
What do you think he is actually there for?
- (ii) What were the three conditions that Brutus had laid down before allowing [3]
Antony to speak to the citizens of Rome?
- (iii) List the three arguments that Antony uses immediately after he speaks [3]
these lines to prove conclusively that Julius Caesar was not ambitious.

- (iv) Antony repeatedly uses certain words in his speech to describe Brutus. [3]
What are they? Why does he do this?
- (v) Which one argument of Antony's do you think had the greatest impact on [4]
his listeners? Give a reason to support your answer.
What were the citizens' feelings towards Antony before he began his speech?
How do their feelings towards him change at the end of his speech?

Question 3

Read the extract from 'Julius Caesar' Act 5, Scene 1, given below and answer the questions that follow:

Cassius: *Then, if we lose this battle,
You are contented to be led in triumph
Through the streets of Rome?*

Brutus: *No, Cassius, no: think not, thou noble Roman,
That ever Brutus will go bound to Rome;
He bears too great a mind. But this same day
Must end that work the ides of March begun;
And whether we shall meet again I know not.
Therefore our everlasting farewell take:
Forever, and forever, farewell, Cassius.
If we do meet again, why, we shall smile;
If not, why then, this parting was well made.*

- (i) Why does Brutus say, 'No, Cassius, no'? [3]
What conditions may force Brutus to go bound to Rome?
Brutus says, 'And whether we shall meet again I know not.' What do these words imply?

- (ii) To what does Brutus refer when he says, 'the work which the ides of March begun'? [3]
How was 'that work' begun?
What political change would take place in Rome if Brutus and Cassius lose this battle?
- (iii) Earlier in this scene, Cassius had confided to Messala a strange occurrence that he had observed when his army was on its way from Sardis to Philippi. Describe this strange occurrence. [3]
- (iv) How does Brutus die? [3]
How does his manner of dying contradict the philosophy by which he had lived his life?
- (v) At the end of the play, Antony calls Brutus, 'the noblest Roman of them all'. Why does he say this? [4]
What does this reveal of Antony's character?
